Deadline: Oct. 1st, 2019

Do you want to get to know a leading researcher in the area of micro and smart systems and seek advice in your career planning?

Here is an exclusive opportunity for you. In this year's ISSS Conference on Micro and Smart Systems held in NMAMIT, Nitte (Karkala) during Oct. 21-23, 2019, there is special session allocated for student mentoring by experienced researchers. That is, a specific time is allotted when a student gets to spend 30 min with a mentor to discuss her/his research and career aspirations and seek guidance. Those student participants who want to avail this opportunity may please send their CV to the conference organizers by filling the form given in this link by Oct. 1st, 2019.

The organizers will choose a mentor and connect the student and the mentor by an introductory email, prior to the conference. It is hoped that substantive interaction during the special session will be continued later as the mentor would have understood the student's background and aspirations. Only 20 students will be given this special opportunity and will be selected based on their CVs. Those students who register for the conference early and send their CVs by Oct. 1st, 2019 will be given preference.
